Telegrams.

HAVAS

Madrid, Jan 26th—The German Reichstag yesterday refused the third reading of the Socialist Bill by 169 to 98, the Conservatives voting in the majority. The ordinary sittings of Parliament were then declared closed; the Emperor did not deliver any speech.

Paris, Jan. 26th—In official circles it is stated that the French Government is hostile to a direct settlement between England and Portugal and will insist upon the African dispute being brought before a European Congress.

Lisbon, Jan. 27th—Sr. Barjona Freitas has just been appointed Portuguese Minister in London with plenary powers to settle the Mozambique question. Telegrams via Zanzibar announce that Major Serpa Pinto is preparing to start for San Pablo de Loanda.

GALVESTON.

Vienna, Jan. 26—A great snow-storm has taken place in Hungary. Many houses have been destroyed and lives lost in St. Clair and the Cathedral of St. Martin in Pressburg has been damaged.

Berlin, Jan. 26—The Minister of Foreign Affairs feels disappointed and annoyed by the premature publication of the Samoa treaty in New York; Mr Phelps, the American Minister has called upon him to express his regret. The Government have decided that the Three Powers should publish the treaty simultaneously; the papers, however, of all political shades are opposed to the treaty. The floods continue, many districts being inundated.

Lisbon, Jan. 26.—The King of Portugal is suffering from inflammatory influenza.

It is said that SerpaPinto has been sent on a mission to the West Coast of Africa, the Government refusing to allow him to return fearing a renewal of the anti-British agitation.

London, Jan. 27th—It is certain that England will be obliged to submit the question with Portugal to arbitration and the result cannot fail to be satisfactory to the latter country, as the claims and rights of other powers to sovereignty in Africa rest upon precisely similar foundations to those of Portugal. Germany, for example, claims as her share a large tract of territory, scarcely any part of which has ever been trodden by a German. It is said that Salisbury's head-strong policy in this affair has afforded Bismarck a favourable opportunity of putting an end to the claims of the Royal British Niger Exploration Company. It is indubitable that the arbitrators must also decide the Niger question in favour of the views held by Bismarck.

WEST COAST TELEGRAMS

Valparaiso, 27th—Telegrams from Antofagasta announce that the railway to Bolivia will be completely finished by the end of March, and will then be opened to the public. Exchange to-day, buyers at 25 1-16, no sellers.

MONTEVIDEO

(From our Special Correspondent.)

The Brazilian-Argentine treaty on the Misiones boundary question was signed by Bocayuva and Zeballos on Saturday afternoon in the presence of Moreno, Alencar, their secretaries and the Boundary Commissioners.

Bocayuva and Zeballos attended the Gala Performance at the Politeama on Saturday, the Bull Fight on Sunday afternoon and a very brilliant dinner at the Argentine Legation on Sunday evening.

The manifestations in favor of President Tajes are postponed and will probably fall through as the promoters are not considered to be the right men in the right place.

The Hon. John Baring, accompanied by Edward Casey, visited the President and Herrera, and was afterwards presented to the principal merchants and financiers who will probably give a banquet in his honour. To-day he conferred with the President of the National bank with reference, it is supposed, to the emission of 5 millions of Mortgage Cedulas already authorized with a State Guarantee. It is said that President Tajes will take Baring for a short trip through the departments of Montevideo and Canelones.

The report of the outburst of influenza on Flores Island is confirmed.

The official Banquet given by Tajes to Bocayuva, Zeballos and the diplomatic corps will take place to-night in the Government-House.

An Italian coachman named Gobernato was murdered last night by a young Oriental named Echarria; Gobernato had only just recovered from a murderous attack by a fellow coachman six weeks ago.

Cases of "Beri-beri" have appeared in the English hospital; the sufferers arrived here in the Riachuelo.

The land auctions yesterday were well attended and prices were fairly sustained.

The Bolsa was very depressed to-day and great anxiety with reference to the liquidation was displayed; 8440 Obras were sold from 33 to 29, closing at 29½; National Banks were quoted at 101, and Unified 71½, other stocks being dormant.

(From the Interior.)

Parana, 27th—The yield of wheat in the settlements of this Department is calculated at 250,000 fanegas, and in Diamante at 310,000 fanegas.

The storm has done considerable damage The streets are obstructed with roofs and other debris and many poeple have been seriously injured. They say that five people have been killed. Many houses came down. While the storm lasted the city was enveloped in dust.

Galvez, 27th—Sales of wheat reported here at 9.50 to 10 dollars, and linseed at 14. But the demand is not very strong.

INCREASE OF WEALTH.

London, Dec. 28th.

In the Times of last week you will see report of a meeting of the Statistical Society, at which Dr. Giffen read a paper on the above subject in presence of the Chancellor of the Exchequer and a select audience. It was a sequel to a similar paper read in 1875, and the results were summed up thus:

	Wealth of U. Kingdom in millions £.
1865	6,100
1875	8,548
1885	10,037

The method of measurement may be, as he says, defective, but by following the same method at three different dates we can form some idea of the growth of wealth. His method, indeed, seems very faulty, since he capitalizes arbitrarily the earning power of certain classes and makes thus an amount of wealth that has no real existence. His table for 1885 is as follows:—

	Millions sterling.
	Income.	Cap. value.
Lands	65	1691
Houses	128	1927
Furniture	—	960
Public companies	58	1024
Railways	33	932
Foreign stocks	85	1300
Professions	46	664
Farmers' profits	65	522
Tradesmen, etc.	74	517
Total	554	9537

To the above total of capital he adds 500 millions for Government property, which brings it up to 10,037.

Only last week I was requested to give a statement of the wealth of the nation for an important work to appear next month. These were my figures:

	Wealth of U. Kingdom, millions £.
	1860	1887
Lands	1,748	1,560
Houses	1,164	2,640
Furniture	582	1,320
Railways	348	831
Cattle and imp	350	414
Shipping	44	130
Merchandise	195	321
Bullion	166	143
Sundries	827	1,869
	5,378	9,228

Dr. Giffen seems to me to value the land too high and the houses too low. The land rental is nominally 62 millions, but it is notorious that this is 20 per cent too high; for this reason I have capitalized a supposed rental of only 52 millions. As to houses, Dr. Giffen multiplies the rent by 15, whereas I do by 20, as the selling price is usually 20 times the valuation rental. He has adopted my system, after long reluctance, of putting furniture at 50 per cent the value of houses. He seems to omit bullion, shipping, cattle, merchandise, etc., but then he capitalizes the average annual profits of merchants, lawyers, etc, which I consider objectionable. A physician may pay income tax on £2,000 a year earned solely by his professional skill, but we cannot say that his head represents £30,000 national capital. Hence my system appears sounder. Both of us make the annual increase of wealth about 150 millions sterling per annum. It would weary my readers to dilate on the subject.

PARIS LETTER

(From our own Correspondent.)

Dec. 19

The National Colonial Congress now sitting is doing serious, practical work, and supersedes those isolated and fussy efforts of certain patriots who organise societies to aid their own 'palavers' and to recommend everyone to emigrate—save themselves. The Congress examines the political, economic and social condition of each colony, probes the drawbacks militating against its development, and holds, as it were, a clinic over each unhealthy symptom. The Under Secretary for the Colonies aids the Congress, and specialists of residential experience assist at the consultations. As a general principle, the Congress aims to assimilate, wherever practicable, a colony as one or more departments of the mother country. This is absorption rather than federation, and will add deputies to the Chamber that may in time have an important influence on the destinies of the home country. Another tendency of the Congress is to endeavour to have uniformity of tariffs between the colonies and Continental France, the foreigner, of course, coming only in second line. All this is business in any case; how far it may prove to be sagacity is another consideration. But the old question stares one in the face; the backbone of a colony is in its immigrants. Now all the functionary reforms in the world—and many are needed—cannot make a colony a "going concern" unless new blood be infused into its system. How to make French colonies attractive for Frenchmen: that's the problem. The emigration tide of France, though small, not the less ebbs away from the foreign possessions of France. The Congress ought to discover the reason why. It has pronounced against the Russian principle of colonization, that of the fusion of races. In the case of Canada it has not turned out badly; there the French, by intermarrying with Anglo-Saxons, have as numerous an offspring as English curates or well-to-do Israelites.

The Russian Influenza is now at its height: it is not, who is afflicted with the endemic, but who has escaped from it? Ordinary life is crippled by the malady: the one redeeming feature about it is, that it has no fatal termination, but the question may fairly be raised. "Does it lay the system open for more violent attacks of the other ills of life?" Some way or the other, the patients when over the attack, pick themselves up but slowly; the convalescence is dragging. The weather is the chief factor in the march of the endemic; it is simply abominable. Not a glimpse of sunshine, but a thick veil of cold humidity, that creeps not only into the warmest apartments and produces a deathlike chill, but seemingly into the very marrow of the bones. The season is making dreadful havoc with persons between sixty and seventy; the rich suffer just the same as the poor, if that be any consolation to the Lazaruses: "What does it matter to me" wrote Charles Lamb, "that Kings must answer the roll-call of the pale adverary death, just the same as the humblest." Congestion of the lungs is general, and this is the danger likely to follow in the wake of the Russian influenza.

The Chamber displays but little pity for the Boulangist deputies; their elections, in case of doubt, are quashed without much ceremony: if the verdict be wrong, the constituencies can later on correct the finding. Many consider the majority in the Chamber do not display excessive sagacity in thus putting the heel down on an "ism" that the general elections have already disposed of; that the severity may afford the occasion for recommencing the guashing of teeth. Two blacks do not make a white: but fair play compels it to be remarked, that before the elections the Boulangists boasted, that were their coaliton in a majority in the new chamber, they would invalide opponents as a matter of course. Lex talionis. At the same time, the General himself is imprudent to continue issuing manifestoes which irritate the victors: he ought to know, that he is simply "played out"; to ignore the fact is no unimportant evidence of incapacity. The political amalgam that he simmered in the melting pot, has vanished.

But he has bequeathed a souvenir that is more damaging to any remote chances of his ever politically turning up again, in the number of political servants whose ruin he has caused by their counting upon his oft repeated pledge of honor, that all expressions of sympathy addressed to him on the part of officials were instantly destroyed, to save the writers from being compromised. Instead, he carefully placed the dangerous evidence aside; the gush letters of the early worshippers of the rising sun were all hastily thrust into a box when Boulanger had suddenly to quit Paris for Brussels; this box was deposited, by one of his confidential clerks, with a woman who kept a small mercer's shop. Its sale to the Government was in due course negotiated, and a hecatomb soon made amongst the compromised functionaries of high and low degree. These dismissed officials have formed a syndicate to make known their misfortunes and how they have been "sold" by Boulanger. The public turns the adder's ear to their moans and groans.

Beyond being a current subject of conversation for the French, they are by no means affected by the Anglo-Portuguese incident. While the Gauls are not enthusiastic admirers of British expansion on such colossal lines, they do not, at the same time, forget that Portugal has left the regions she now claims for years unoccupied and for centuries undeveloped, while she has been more of a hindrance than of a help to the civilizing tendencies at work on the Dark Continent. By her recent ugly rush to occupy territory covered by an English Chartered Company backed by British protection. Portugal must recede. The age has passed when Tritons allow themselves to discuss with Minnows. Bismarck has changed that phase of international relations. It is conjectured that if Portugal does not knuckle under, and at once gobble humble pie, she will be evicted from the whole of East Africa. M. de Brazza exhibits no hurry to return to the French Congo; he is now in his third year of absence from that region. As he is about to marry, the rumor circulates that he will resign his governorship. De Brazza's policy respecting the French Congo:—First, the inutility of European emigrants going there; secondly, the colony can only be made a market for French products; and lastly, to achieve this, French capitalists and manufacturers must undertake the task of opening up that market themselves, which up to the present they have not shown any inclination to do. Occasionally a paragraph appears in the limbo corners of the journals that De Brazza is actively occupied organizing a Congo Trading Company. But every tyro in news knows what that means. I see no person giving the slightest attention to the Congo or its Eldorado prospects.

Respecting Brazilian affairs; they are keenly watched. The partisans of the exported dynasty in Europe are not inactive, and mean trouble. The greatest circumspection, and the most resolute decision will be required on the part of the new "brooms". No effort on their part should be spared, to allow the inhabitants to familiarize themselves with the idea that they are not only units of the sovereignty, but by their votes make part of the Government of their nation. Not a few people here believe that Portugal, fearing a republican movement at home, rushed the quarrel with England, to occupy public opinion with a foreign question. The "ruse" is as old as diplomacy itself. However, it is from the side of Spain that the signal is expected to be given for the declaration of the "United States of Iberia."

The Panama Canal Co. will drag its slow length along for a few months more. The Court of Appeal has just decided that the holders of the last Lottery Bonds cannot be called upon to pay in their remaining instalments, unless it be shown that the Company is in a situation to execute on its part its promise—the completion of the Canal. It could never be in the minds of the lenders to place their money in a bankrupt scheme. The only value the liquidator really has to dispose of is the Isthmian overland railway. The concessions of land on each side of the proposed canal cannot be put up to auction, as these concessions lapse to the Colombian Government in the event of the Canal proving to be unachieved. The French law will not recognise any favored creditors, when the railway is brought to the hammer. So the American syndicate, ready cut and dry, to purchase the Colon—Panama line, will have to encounter no obstacles.

The important Commission of deputies, nominated to make an exhaustive enquiry into the agricultural, industrial and trading situation of France, the better to deal with the customs tariffs when the last of the Commercial treaties shall fall in February 1892, has sent out question papers to all bodies and notable individuals that the coming changes will affect. This step has in it a fatal error; it demands the correspondents to deal with the subject legislatively; that is, handle the queries from a protectionist or free trade point of view. The queries ought only to gather the history of affairs over a series of years, with authentic tables of economic decay or prosperity; marking the nations with which France has the most important exchange of commodities, and how best to facilitate this exchange by reciprocal concession. In the Argentine Republic there are 400,000 Italians; 150,000 Spaniards, and 150,000 French, as well as 35,000 English and 25,000 Germans. All these nationalities have important relations with their mother countries, while constituting the embryo of a future great nation. If France made any customs difficulties with the Argentines, she might find her chief foreign market compromised by being cut out by more enterprising rivals. And while France is free to fix her own tariffs, she has only Hobson's choice in getting off her surplus products. To export is as important as to import; both factors represent national prosperity.

PARAGUAYAN LETTER

(From our Correspondent)

Paraguay, Dec 16th 1889

In my former letters I dealt with the difficulties that stand in the way of colonization in Paraguay and have shown that they are by no means insuperable. I propose in the present article to call attention to certain advantages which I think are usually overlooked. We will pass over in silence, as having been abundantly demonstrated by all writers on Paraguay, the fertility of its soil, the exuberance of its forests and the abundance of its rain fall. All these material advantages every reader of the STANDARD must be aware of. But in this paper I wish to consider the conditions of a colonist in Paraguay from the aesthetic stand point. "Man shall not live by bread alone". The deep philosophical truth which these words contain is so often lost sight of in these materialistic days that perhaps readers will smile when I say that a great advantage to the colonist in Paraguay is the beautiful scenery around him. Our colonist will live in park-like lands bounded by the blue lines of the forests, intersected by sparkling rivers and dotted with springs of ice cold water. And the very fact of living amidst such surroundings must produce both on our colonist himself, but more especially on his children reared in such a spot, a morally vivifying and humanizing influence.

I maintain that "ceteris paribus" a man brought up midst the beautiful surroundings of Paraguay will make a better citizen, a man of completer mental development, than one reared say on the monotonous, yellow-brown plains of the Pampas. The climate is likely to impart an element of softness and languor to such a man's descendants; but that tendency would be counteracted for many years by the necessity of struggling with Nature in her virgin wildness. Moreover, we do not find, so far at least, that a hot climate such as that of Australia and especially Queensland has any weakening effect on the Northerners who have populated those regions. Apart from the effect on the man's character, it is obvious that the average colonist is much more likely to be contented and to settle down in a spot where nearly all his bodily senses are gratified, rather than in another where, so to speak, he only half exists, where only the materialistic gain-seeking side of his character is exercised. I am aware that it is easy to turn into ridicule what I have written above, and by twisting my words, say that I advocate "beauty" as a basis for colonization, and to assert that beauty fills no man's belly. But to guard against the chance of some clever person dismissing the subject with an epigram, I will now recapitulate what advantages we have in Paraguay. We have a fertile soil, a delicious climate, a heavy rainfall, abundance of timber suitable for all purposes, medicinal plants, and a profusion of delicious fruits, such as oranges, guabas, etc. The colonist can, if he so choose, grow his own cotton for his clothes, his own coffee and rice and sugar cane. In fact, a properly managed farm could supply its owner with all his needs down to shoe leather; for the barks of certain trees in the forest which are extremely common, such as the "curufrazu", contain excellent tanning properties.

Add to this the beautiful scenery around us, and those of us who know Paraguay may well be excused for considering it a veritable garden, wanting only labourers to till the soil. Often when one is riding through these camps with one's head perhaps busy with other thoughts, the sight of some beautifully situated house, with its orange grove and air of peacefulness, strikes one with a shock, and even tempts one to throw away all money-making thoughts and plans, to sleep away in sybaritic slothfulness the rest of one's fleeting life.

The other day I rode through a long valley which is now being marked out for colonization by the Paraguay Land Company, and any scene more beautiful for its utter peacefulness I have never seen. Imagine a long, narrow valley, with gentle slopes and undulations winding through its bounding forests, with here a deeply indented bay, there a protruding clump of trees, some covered with lovely flowers The really green grass, watered by crystalline springs. Such was the valley I rode through for some three leagues. Dotted on either hand were the charred remnants of houses, testifying to the halcyon days of Paraguay before the war.

The greatest proof of this country's possibilities is its past, bearing in mind the fact that the country was not lost by decay, but destroyed, annihilated by war, such a war as cannot, I think, be paralleled in modern history. I have ridden through leagues upon leagues of land now deserted, but that have formerly been full of people, as witness the innumerable ruins. The Paraguay Land Company, who own some of the best land in the country, hope to succeed in replacing the ruins with new houses and in refilling these homes with new blood from Europe or the United States of North America in place of that spilt in Lopez's bloody struggle.

And I think that Europeans who flock so eagerly into the Argentine Republic will do better by coming to a country where besides the good qualities common to both Paraguay and the Argentine, they will find many peculiar advantages, amongst which I may mention a delicious climate, the mildness of which reduces the expense of necessary clothing to a minimum, and surrounding scenery which by its beauty is eminently fitted to satisfy the more complex and aesthetic side of man's nature.

C.S.R.

THE LOST TREATY AND AN INTERVIEW.

(From our Special Correspondent)

Montevideo, 25

I did not send you the treaty, owing to a most singular combination of accidents. I hadn't even time to look into it. The fact is, on the discovery of the "lark" I was arrested, and, but for the kindly offices of a few good friends, would still be in the "policia". It is not necessary for me to say anything more about this treaty. I missed a chance but made a fortune, thanks to your suggestion, which, in the hands of my three great friends, took splendidly. Their diplomatic genius stands alone. Not even the Baron can come near them; and here I come to the subject of my letter. I called upon the Baron this morning. They say, you know, that he is going to be promoted, and I thought I might question him, seek out his weak points, if any, and extract from him some news for you.

I found the Baron clad in an exquisitely embroidered 'robe de chambre,' his feet delicately ensconced in a pair of slippers beautifully lined with—india-rubber, I think. He rose to welcome me with open arms, as if we had signed a treaty of eternal peace between us, made me sit down and called out to his valet for cigars and—would you believe it?—Corvo de Casteldaccia. He noticed my smile with that quickness which is rarely found near gold-rimmed specs. "You see", he said, "I like good wine. The juice of the grape has made Italy musical, poetic and artistic; and if your countrymen would only give up brandy and whiskey, and take to wine, why they would be able to produce Verdis and Bellinis, who certainly would compose something more sublime than "Tommy, make room for your Uncle".

While the Baron was making this observation, which of course is all gammon,—I must send him a case of whiskey to try—I cast a look around. On a richly-carved desk was a sheet of paper covered with arcs, curves and lines. The Baron studies geometry every morning.

Sir:—I said, seating myself, I came to get some news for the Buenos Ayres STANDARD, and may I ask you to give me the very latest?

I am completely at your disposal, and in the first place let me thank you for the very warm manner in which you received my poetic effusion the other night. I must show you some pieces of mine in English, French and of course Portuguese.

Baron, you are like Milton, and your muse is polyglot. But tell me, now that I think of it, I have remarked that you apostrophise things, particularly in that beautiful ode to Misiones. Have you not observed that Petrarch had a Laura to inspire his muse, Dante a Beatrice, Swift a Stella, Ovid a Corinna, Horace a Lydia. In fact most geniuses had some bright star to waken their fancies, to fill their dreams. Virgil—your 'sic' vos non vobis, friend—no doubt, was born under an inauspicious sign of the zodiac and he kept aloof. Poor Goldsmith! well, he began life as a school-master, and may be excused for shunning the tender passion he so quaintly describes in his Edwin and Angelina But look at Hugo. He fell in love at 4 years of age, and Byron, and Tom Moore! —Yes, my friend, I know all about those poets and their flames. But poets are rarely diplomats. In these countries we want diplomatic men and women rather than poets or poetesses. Even in England and Germany the women are behind the age, and when they try to move into a wider and perhaps less congenial sphere of action, they become what you call, I believe, "blue stockings". The talent of your great Eliza Cook, who died the other day, if turned into a political rather than a poetical chamel, would have raised her to a much higher rank in your country. You have no Madame de Maintenon, no Madame de Stael, and your newspapers are full of particulars of divorce cases. And mark, that in all great convulsions or corruptions of society, it is the woman that saves and redeems. It was a woman saved the Persian empire. Hersilia saved Rome. And then the world has its Judiths and Charlotte Cordays, its Joans of Arc, its Nitocris, its Cleopatras. We need those enthusiastic characters to-day. Where are they? Where are they?

Baron, you know a good deal about the ladies, but, excuse me if I turn the conversation. Is there any truth about the reported alliance between Brazil and Chile to wage war against the Argentines?

Yes; it is true, that is, but for the revolution the alliance would have been made. The Misiones question would have set fire to the train. Happily we have arranged that now, and you need not feel in the least alarmed about the boundary-line. The arrangement is a very equitable one.

Is it true that the Chilians were and are arming?

Yes. They have a very powerful fleet and a well organised army. Their policy is always the future; yours the present. Argentines never see further than their nose and seem to think that their neighbors are as good and as friendly as themselves. There is the mistake.

That is very true But the Chilians are not only arming, but they are encroaching on Argentine territory. Mr. Popper, who is at present in Buenos Ayres, is my authority. And I may tell you that the south of the Republic is going ahead. Mr. Ashael Bell knows a good deal about the South. I remember travelling with him once, and he says the South will yet be called to redress the North. There are missionary settlements in the extremity of the continent. The Rev. Mr. Bridger has a large family down there, and contributes to spread civilisation. I do not know anything about the South, but what you want is a good strategetic railway to move the troops quickly.

By the way, how is my friend, Mr. Hopkins?

Oh! He is as young and as genial as ever. He is in Buenos Aires. But, excuse me, Barao, I have to breakfast with Colonel G. in the new hotel. Many thanks for your kideness. I shall meet you at the bull-fight, and I will report the interview to the STANDARD.

Scævola.

Railway Items.

Dr. Araoz received yesterday from the manager of the Argentine Great Western a detailed account of a derailment which occurred on the 18th inst. at kil. 490. The accident happened at 10 30 p.m., and was caused by a bull lying across the line. The engine, tender and two wagons jumped off the rails and the line was blocked up, and the road-bed was severely damaged. The combination-train from Mendoza was delayed at Junuyan and a provisional siding was made to clear the line.

Mr W. White, on behalf of the Buenos Ayres and Rosario Railway, has protested against the order filed by Commissary Ballvé, who will not allow the Company's men to work on a property recently purchased by the railway from the Armstrong heirs, near the Plaza Retiro.

Engineer Wauer has reported very favourably on the new rolling-stock which has come out for the East Argentine. There is, however, some hitch about the brakes, which will have to be changed.

The technical inspector of the Andine Railway has pounced on seven locomotives with faulty boilers. The engines have been in service for the last 15 years.

Government have authorized the Argentine Great Western to put its new rolling stock into service.

A telegram was sent yesterday by the Minister to the Government agent in London requesting him to sent out and pay for material for the Cabra-Corral Railway and other branches.

We were wrong in our notice of the laying of the foundation stone of the Bahia Blanca and North-Western Railway. It appears the sub-contractor Mr Raffo gave a "carne con cuero" to the masons on the occasion of the laying of the foundation-stone of a goods shed. We stand corrected. Distance is a sad deceiver, and it looked very like the foundation-stone of the Terminus from here.

The names of the concessionaires, whose residences the La Plata Government could not find out, are Carranza Barilari and Co. and M. A. Rene and Co. These gentlemen hold respectively concessions for lines from Campana to Lincoln and from Barracas to La Plata.

The works of the Nouguier concession for a railway from Belgrano to the Tigre are being pushed forward, and the rails now reach Olivos.

The Central Entre-Riano must have been damaged by the storm on Saturday. The losses in Parana appear to have been considerable, as will be seen by the telegram in another column. But in regard to the railway, nothing is yet known since the Inspectors have sent no report.

The following is the report of the directors of the Buenos Ayres New Tramways Company, Limited, which was submitted at the first ordinary general meeting of the company held on Dec. 31:—

"The audited statement of accounts to 30th November, 1888, are annexed hereto. The company was incorporated in October 1888, for the purpose of acquiring the concession dated 27th March of the same year, granted by the Municipality of the City of B. Ayres, for laying a line of tramways in that city of about 25 miles. This concession was duly transferred to the company in March last. The line will be open and ready for traffic some time before 1st Oct. 1890. It will be remembered that in July last the directors entered into a provisional agreement with Messrs. Samuel B. Hale and Co. for the purchase from them by the company of the Lacroze Tramways of B. Ayres for £75,000, to be paid as to part in 6 per cent. preference shares, ranking 'pari passu" with the existing preference shares. The board were advised by eminent counsel that the consent of every preference shareholder was necessary before the 6 per cent. preference capital could be increased, and the provisional agreement provided that these consents should be obtained before a specified time. The assents of all the preference shareholders could not be obtained within the time agreed, and the vendors accordingly gave notice rescinding the agreement. As the proposed purchase by the company of the Lacroze Tramways will not now be carried out, the resolutions dealing with the preference to be attached to the new capital, and the increase of the directors' remuneration which were passed at the extraordinary general meetings held on the 31st July and 15th August last, lose their practical utility, it is therefore proposed to submit resolutions in effect rescinding these at the extraordinary general meeting, to be held after the ordinary general meeting".

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The temperature and the gold premium seem to hunt in couples; both rose yesterday, and looked as if they had still further upward "go" in them. It is to be hoped not.

Minister Bocayuva is timed to arrive at the mole-head to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock. All the national and foreign Societies, with their bands, will be there to meet him, and escort him to his hotel. At night there will be a grand pow-wow in the Onrubia Theatre; and before the week is out, a Venetian Fete at the Tigre, dinners, receptions and what not, in honour of the illustrious traveller.

The Italian artist, Sr. de Martino, gave on Sunday in the Club rooms at San Isidro a specimen of his skill at rapid painting of sea scenery. The rooms were filled with a fashionable and attentive audience during the four hours that the artist was engaged at his painting. On finishing his picture he, with appropiate and complimentary words, presented it to the Club The President of the Municipality, Sr. Marin, in behalf of the Club replied, and presented the artist with a rectangular gold plate inscribed in commemoration of the event. Music followed. Amongst the many present we noticed members of the families of Anchorena, Brian, Belastegui, Beccar, Crisol, Cilley, Flores, Gimenez, Lagos, Garcia Lagos, Morillo, Piran, Peralta, Sanchez, Tomkinson, Urieu, Vernet and Wilken.

There's something new on the tapis. The carpet-makers and upholsterers of the city have organized a society with a view to promote moral improvement amongst themselves. That's right. A little moral improvement is needed all round.

We heard a truly horrid rumour yesterday, viz, that the detestable "pomito" is to come to the front again during Carnival. We sincerely hope that the Lord Mayor and Commissioners will put their foot on the proposed revival of a vulgar nuisance which it took such a long time to get rid of.

They must have had rather an expensive Christmas in London. A correspondent says that Christmas Eve branches of holly which would have hardly fetched two shillings in ordinary years, were, it is said, being sold in the shops of very "swell" florists in London for two guineas, because they had redberries upon them in no surprising quantities.

The petticoat pickle in which Mr. Parnell now figures lends some colour to the following paragraph in a London paper received yesterday:—"It is already rumoured that Mr. Parnell contemplates retiring (temporarily) from the leadership of the Irish party, in which event he will appoint Mr. Justin Mc Carthy his successor. But Mr. McCarthy will certainly not be agreeable (in any sense) to some of the most ardent spirits of the party, who are not incapable of opposing Mr. Parnell's wishes —as Mr. Timothy Healy did, if I may trust my memory—when Captain O'Shea was returned to Parliament as Mr. Parnell's nominee.

Villalonga & Co. sent round yesterday a nice glazed map with the names of their agents in Europe and America.

The Emperor of Germany was 31 years old yesterday, and his numerous and influential subjects in this city celebrated the occasion in their usual loyal and patriotic fashion. The calls at the German Legation during the day were very numerous, and a splendid concert and entertainment was given at night in the Turnverein.

The news that the Municipal loan for 20 millions has broken down caused a gleeful impression in town yesterday. The sole effective way to prevent the squandering of city money is not to give it. Economy must be forced on the city rulers. The Commissioners are inclined to retrench; but the Lord Mayor, unfortunately, is in a directly opposite frame of mind.

It's a rather ominous sign that Battle Panoramas are getting so popular in Europe. The Battle of Plewna, which is at present in this city, had a great run there, and now London is roused to enthusiasm by a splendid panorama of the "King-making victory" of Waterloo, of which an exchange says:—"The Panorama of the Battle of Waterloo was opened by the Duke of Wellington on January 1, and judging from what we saw on the occasion, the affair will "catch on," and be a success. The painting is realistic to a degree, and, although, taking it as a whole, feelings of almost uncontrollable enthusiasm are roused, there are parts at sight of which the blood runs cold, so thoroughly are all the horrors of war depicted. The foreground of the painting is built up with natural turf, trees, bushes, etc., around which are lying broken muskets, sabres, accoutrements, dismounted cannon, and many other evidences of the terrible struggle, but so cleverly are these joined on it is impossible to ascertain where the one ends and the other begins. The museum of relics alone is worth a visit."

We have to thank the indefatigable Red Star Agency for sending us late English periodicals yesterday.

The new Government in Rio is not allowing grass to grow under its shoe-leather. It has severed with a stroke of the pen the connection between Church and State, the plague of so many European nations, it has established civil marriages, and now it announces equally drastic measures of reform with the army and the lottery. By all accounts both are woefully in need of sweeping revision.

The Censor says that, in spite of the denial of the director of the Naval School, typhus fever has attacked the boys. Three are down with it, and a sailor died from it several days ago.

An American, after dining at the St. James' Hall restaurant, paid his bill, and was about leaving, when the waiter suggested that the amount did not include the waiter. "Ah!" said the man, "but I didn't eat the waiter."

The "Bois" at La Plata now almost equals in fashion Palermo's Rotten Row. In the La Plata fooling round there are four strings of carriages. The races at the provincial capital on Sunday were largely attended by the local public and a few inveterate turfites from town.

The owner of a quinta at Palermo was alarmed the other night by his three daughters screaming that there were robbers in the quinta. He took down the "sabre de son pere" and sallied forth. While peering into the darkness near a miniature lake (made by the rain) in the grounds, he suddenly received a violent push from behind and went on his head a cropper into the dirty water. His roars of "No me mate, Señor", brought the neighbours and the police, when it was found that the "Señor" was a big ram that had strayed into the quinta.

On Sunday at the corner of Tacuari and Chile a young man tried to jump on the front platform of a passing tram car, fell, and had his legs destroyed. The driver and guard were, as usual, arrested, though not to blame in the matter.

We remind the members of the Scotch Church of the meetings to-night; one General, and the other Extraordinary, in connection with the sale of the Church for the Boulevard.

The death of Mr. Arthur Kavanagh, of Borris, is announced in the papers to hand, He was born without either arms or legs, but had a very handsome face, and intellect and moral qualities of a high order. He was Lord Lieutenant for Carlow and a Privy Councillor for Ireland. He leaves two sons and three daughters.

More new bank-notes from Punch's printers have arrived in the Elbe, so the Frees up country will be expected to withdraw their dirty old issues, or the N. B. to do it for them.

The number of pretty dames and damsels at the St. Cloud Fete on Sunday was greater than ever. And did n't they make the men bleed; and was n't the most delightful flirtation rampant? Next Sunday "da capo".

Dr. Julio Costa was formerly elected next Governor of Buenos Ayres by the Electoral College on Sunday. There is every reason to think that Dr. Costa will prove the right man in the right place.

On dit in London that the young lady whom Lord Brabourne intends to marry is the daughter of the late Mr. Walker, the eminent and wealthy contractor.

Figaro says that Buenos Ayres was never so dull from a social point of view before: Not a marriage, or a hop, or even a mild muffin worry in any quarter. The question is, where are the eligible bachelors? They are not at Mar del Plata, nor the other summer resorts. It's a lamentable state of affairs, due, no doubt, to the gold premium.

The newest wonder in the United States is a phonographic watch which reminds the wearer of all his appointments, etc. during the day. Bellamy is the name of the watchmaker who has hit on this very useful application of the phonograph.

Advices from Montevideo report that the bull-fight on Sunday and gala theatrical performance the night before went off splendidly. Dr Zeballos and Minister Bocayuva attended both, and the Brazilian visitor gave his massive gold watch and chain to Mazantini. Dr Zeballos also gave the man a valuable present. The Misses Bocayuva, daughters of the Minister, attract much attention and admiration in society.

Someone says that a woman should never allow a man to propose marriage to her unless she is willing to become his wife Some people would deprive the women in this word of all their fun.

The "Delmonico" Bar, at 724 Calle Defensa, was opened yesterday afternoon, and will probably be a success, as all Bars are in this city, when well managed.

The insufferable negro comparsas for Carnival are on the war-path and making night hideous with drumming and fiddling. The nuisance is intolerable and should be stamped on. The imitation blacks are far noisier and more disorderly than the real ones.

We are sorry to see that the fashion of assaulting editors has filtered into English circles in Rosario. The Reporter publishes the following;—"Yesterday morning at about half past eleven our editorial office was entered by Mr. Clunie accompanied by his book-keeper Mr Wamsley. As pretext for their visit the spokesman, Mr C., mentioned that he came to enquire by what right we had published in yesterday's paper a letter signed by Mr G. E. Deehan at which he was offended. On being told that the correspondence was duly signed, and that the Reporter being a duly authorized organ, it was the Editor's duty to publish all guaranteed matter, he waited for no further explanation but raised his fist and cowardly struck Mr Mac Lean three blows on the left cheek, leaving him almost senseless for a few moments As usual in such cases policemen were not to be seen near or far to arrest the culprits, so our Editor went with Mr. Saunders to place the matter in the hands of Don Mariano Mazza, the chief of the Police, who at once ordered Comisario Señor Flores to issue a warrant for their arrest, promising that these violators shall be duly punished as the law requires. We shall let our readers know of the issue of this affair, and it promises to be interesting, as Mr. MacLean will demand the assistance of his colleagues of the Press Union to help him in claiming a heavy sum for the personal injuries most unjustly suffered at the hands of a man whom everyone up to yesterday considered a gentleman."

The latest news from Montevideo about Mr. James Trimble is that his recovery from his wounds will require a long time. Application for the release on bail of his assailant, Mr. Crosa, has been made to the courts.

The camp news yesterday was meagre. At Balcarce it has not rained for three months, and farmers' hair is turning grey from hope deferred. At Bahia Blanca a pawn-broking bank is being started, and at Azul there was the other day a fierce free fight with revolvers, in which nobody was hurt.

Apropos of the London Scandals, the London Correspondent of the Birmingham Post writes:—"An extraordinary series of letters, purporting to have been written at the dictation of the man Hammond, the keeper of the much talked of house in Cleveland street, has been published. They set forth how Hammond fled from France to Belgium, how he was there watched by two detectives, how he was offered £300 and a first class passage to New York, how he demanded first class passages for all his family and £800, how he received both, and how, carefully travelling by a ship flying the American flag, he arrived safely in the United States "after a very nice voyage," and proceeded to settle near Washington."

A lighter was burned up in the Riachuelo in the small hours on Sunday morning. No other vessels were injured nor lives lost. Loss $5,000; insured for $15,000.

The Amigo del Pueblo of Concordia announces that the body of the much-lamented Captain Carroll of the Itera has been found at last. Mr. Budge, the popular manager of the East Argentine Railway sent the steamer Garrucho down the river to search for the body, which was found near the Itucumba bank, nine miles from the scene of the disaster. The remains were so eaten away by the fishes that they were only recognised by the little clothing left on them. The funeral took place on the 22nd, and was attended by the whole English community and many others.

Our advices from London say that it is rumoured that Portugal, Germany and Italy will shortly address a Collective Note to the Provisional Government at Rio protesting against the recent decree announcing the new scheme of naturalisation.

The last storm blew down a part of the new Pavilion of the Exhibition building at Palermo. The mishap won't delay the Show, however.

The latest proposal for settling the tram fare difficulty is that the companies should have tickets on sale at confiterias, almacenes, etc. and the guards have nothing to do but collect them. This new system would answer excellently for constant travellers at once, and gradually for ladies and others perhaps, once they know where the tickets are to be sold; but we fear that for this class the new arrangement would always be inconvenient. The companies, however, could relieve the great pressure for change by issuing books of tickets to constant travellers at a discount.

An eminent amateur actor sends us the following paragraph from the Referee:—The Theatre Royal, Stratford-on-Avon, was blown down during the gale on Christmas Day. It was to have been opened with great ceremony on the day after the one on which it was so unceremoniously shut up. That gale must be credited with a record-breaker in "blowing the gaff." I don't know whether it was to have been opened with a Shakespearean performance, but it was shut up by one. It was "The Tempest" that settled the Theatre Royal, Stratford-on-Avon."

DESTRUCTION OF LAEKEN.

The fire at the Palace of Laeken has led to the destruction, not only of a building of considerable historic interest, but of a vast and costly collection of books and works of Art. Gobelins tapestry in good preservation, and of the best period, is one of the rarest and most beautiful of possessions. Like the works of the great painters, it cannot be replaced. Unfortunately, a magnificent set of these hangings has been destroyed, and thus Belgium is deprived of a masterpiece in an art which is specially her own. Again, the Rotunda at the Royal Chateau contained many choice examples of statuary, and these, it is feared, have been consumed in the vast furnace which is now all that remains of the Palace. The fire spread so rapidly that the Princess Clémentine, who was at luncheon when the outbreak took place, had only just time to escape. Mademoiselle Droncourt, her governess, endeavored to return to her apartments in order to secure some articles of value. Her temerity, however, cost her her life, for she was suffocated in the attempt, the smoke overcoming her before she could make good her escape. The news was brought to the King and Queen while they were engaged in holding the customary New Year's reception. Immediately on hearing of what had happened the ceremony was suspended, and the Queen hurried to the Castle, only to find it, however, almost completely consumed. The overheating of a stove used to warm water-pipes is believed to have been the cause of the fire, but it is not yet possible to ascertain all the facts. What is certain is that the building, which was erected by one of the last of the Austrian Stadtholders, and from which Napoleon I. issued his Declaration of War against Russia, is a heap of smoking ruins, from which almost nothing but the plate has been saved. The rest of the valuables—pictures, books and jewels—have been utterly destroyed. No doubt the loss of work of Art at Laeken is not one which can be described as a world-wide calamity. There are hundreds of galleries of pictures and sculpture more remarkable. Still, there is the unpleasant fact that the Art treasures of the past constitute a fixed, or rather a decreasing quantity, and, regarded in that light, any diminution, however, small by comparison, is, as far as it goes, an irreparable loss. Judging by experience, no tapestry will ever again be made like the best product of the looms of Gobelins, and whenever a set is burnt, it is a source of regret to those who appreciate what is beautiful in human workmanship.

THE STANDARD, printed and published every morning at the STANDARD Printing Office, No. 176 Calle Maipu. —Editors and Proprietors: M. G. & E. T. MULHALL.

The manager of the Rosario Banco Constructor Santafecino begs us to correct a statement that appeared in our last packet edition with regard to a land speculation of this bank. On the 2nd Sept. 1889, Messrs Gruning and Candioti sold to the Bank several sites stipulating that the title deeds should be signed on the 20th of that month. Owing to some question about the titles the term lapsed and the Bank protested the deed of sale. This month the sellers presented to the Bank the titles in good order, but the Bank, being under no obligation, refused to continue the operation. This gave rise to the absurd rumours bruited against the Bank which had determined to bring an action of damages; Messrs. Gruning and Candioti, however, applied to the Bank yesterday to annul the deed of sale, which has been done and thus puts an end to the question.

Mr. Luis R. Scheiner has been appointed representative in the River Plate of the important banking house of W. R. Grace and Co. of New York.

Our London advices state that owing to the paucity of freight for the Argentine Republic and the non-success of negotiations entered into in the cities of upper Italy and Adriatic ports, the Italian Shipping Company are not in a position to inaugurate the new line between Venice and La Plata.

We see by our exchanges that money was very tight on the last day of the year in London; the Times states in its money article: "Money has again been in strong demand, as usual on the last day of the year. The Bank of England has done a good business in advances at 7 per cent., and in some quarters outside the same rate has been obtained, although as a rule, the charge has been 6 to 6½ per cent. The discount rates are nominally unaltered, but there appears to be considerable inclination to take bills, and transactions have been effected at less than the rate generally quoted for three months' bank paper. It is matter for congratulation that, in spite of this rather ominous weakness in the discount market, the Paris cheque rate should have risen considerably and that for the present there need be no fear of a drain of gold to France. The German exchange has also hardened considerably, owing partly to money having become rather cheaper in Berlin simultaneously with the rise here, but the New York exchange is still a source of danger. It must be remembered that it is not enough, in order to secure a stable condition of the London market, that the foreign exchanges should be raised a little above exporting point; they must be raised to importing point. Even now all the gold offered in the bullion market is being bought for export, the strongest buying to-day being for account of India, with which American purchasers competed. It is thought by some that the Bank of France will raise its rate on Thursday, which would, of course, make the situation worse, but we are inclined to think that they will not, if they can help it, do anything to weaken London."

Messrs. Spackman and Sons, of London, have furnished us with the following list of the principal new companies brought out during the year 1889, showing the very large nominal capital of £170,286,400, £125,415,740 of which has been offered for subscription and £39,274,781 has been called up on application and allotment. They observe with reference to it:—

As most of the companies have made several calls during the year, the amount actually subscribed to new companies will very greatly exceed this sum. The figures of the past three years show that the rage for public companies is rapidly on the increase, although so many have been thorough failures, the past year being nearly double 1888.

In 1887, nominal capital, £68,584,416; capital offered, £48,575,996; amount paid on application and allotment, £16,002,710.

In 1888, nominal capital, £88,769,600; capital offered, £60,948,330; amount paid on application and allotment, £20,379,357.

In 1889, nominal capital, £170,286,400; capital offered, £125,415,740; amount paid on application and allotment, £39,274,781.

Brewery, Land and Mining Companies have been the greatest successes, the shares of many of them reaching very high premiums for the time being.

The latest feature in connection with many of the new companies is the creation of founders' shares. These, in some instances, have been sold for fabulous amounts, although, in the first instance, very little consideration appears to have been paid for them.

In the report of the Banco Colonizador Nacional we see that the profits of the Bank for 1889 amounted to 718,875 dollars; the net profits are 584,834 dollars; of this amount 192,687 are put to reserve, and the balance 392,146 dollars is distributed among the shareholders; this is ten per cent. dividend. This flourishing bank owns 683,053 hectares, say 273 square leagues against 384,500 hectares the previous year. The report has also some remarks on the Santa Fe harvest, which is qualified as magnificent. The auditors of the bank's accounts are Messrs. E. Ternquist, J. Bernascini and M. Santiago.

Telegrams from Montevideo this evening quote shares of the Obras or Public Works Company at 31¼. The Leibnitz and Porteña have arrived at the Mount.

We beg to acknowledge receipt of Messrs Pietranera and Sievers' Revista Mercantil. This is a special issue, which we recommend to merchants and traders in general. The contents are most interesting and to the point.

The mail has brought advices from London of the appointment of Mr. R. J. Fenessy to the important post of manager of the London and River Plate Bank in this market. Many of the elder River Plate residents will remember this gentleman, who some 28 years ago was in this city, clerk to the house of C. T. Getting and Co. Mr. Fennessy, as manager in Europe of the Rio Tinto Company, has established for himself the highest business reputation, which post he gives up now to take charge of the London and River Plate Bank here. We believe he will prove a worthy successor to Mr. Anderson, who retires to London to take his seat there on the board as director. All Mr. Fennessy's old friends here will be delighted to see him back again in the River Plate.

Exchange rules active enough, but at the same rates—47½d. to 47⅝d. on London and 5 to 5.01 fcs. on Paris. Discounts are about the same; strange to say, there is not such a hunt up this month for money on stocks, and the great business of "cauciones" has dwindled to nil.

The Government approved to day the statutes of the "El Arenal Nuevo" Company, with a capital of 600,000 m|n.

It was rumoured that Dr. J. J. Romero will be one of the new directors of the National Bank: strange if this comes to pass as Dr. Romero when Minister of Hacienda was then strongly opposed to the first increase of capital of the National Bank. No more capable man, however, than Dr. Romero could be named to the board and his nomination would have a sort of political significance.

It may interest many in this market to know that according to the London Times of Jan. 1st the Bank of England had made advances at 7 per cent, and this when its discount rate was but 6 per cent. This shows the stringency of the London market at that date.

The washing establishment at the Once has changed hands and now they begin washing again. We have not heard yet the name of the new empresario.

The following is a summary of operations effected this evening at the second ring:—

The London papers publish the following mercantile changes on the new year:—

"Messrs. Baring Brothers and Co. state that the Hon. John Baring, eldest son of Lord Revelstoke, and Mr. Archibald Cameron Norman, son of the late partner, Mr. C. L. Norman, have been admitted as partners. Messrs. Frederick Huth and Co. state that Mr. John S. Collmann has decided to retire from active business pursuits, and has ceased to be a member of the firm. Mr. Frederick Huth Jackson, a great grandson of the late Mr. Frederick Huth, has been admitted a partner. Messrs. Blake, Boissevain and Co. state that, referring to their circular of July 1st, the interest of the estate of the late Mr. Stanton Blake expires this day by limitation. The amount of capital of the firm remains unchanged. Messrs. Redfern, Alexander and Co. regret to announce the retirement, owing to ill-health, of Mr. B. T. Harding, who has been associated with their firm since 1841, and who has held their procuration since 1882. Messrs. André, Reniers and Co. and André, Mendel and Co. state that in consequence of Mr. Reniers having decided to reside permanently in Hamburg they have arranged that the London firm shall be styled André, Mendel and Co. The Hamburg firm continues as André, Reniers and Co., while the interest and responsibility of all concerned in both firms remain unaltered. Messrs. Heath and Co. announce their retirement from business at the end of this year."

The following letter to the London Standard is evidently from Mr. Hector Quesada:—

"Sir,—In reference to your advices published in the Money Market article of your valuable paper of to-day—namely, that the Argentine funds stiffened yesterday, as the Government would obtain a Loan somehow, allow me to state that your information is not quite correct. The Government has no need of money, and if two months ago, a Loan was negociated for, it was done with the object of helping the commercial community and bettering the rates of exchange.

It is now known that the Argentine Government has refused "in toto" the Loan of five millions offered by the European Syndicate, as the conditions of the latter were unacceptable. Again, in reference to your remarks on the issue of fifty million dollars of Cedulas, Loans, etc., the Argentine Government has suppressed the issue of further paper Cedulas, and has prevailed upon the Provincial Government of Buenos Ayres to act in a similar manner. As to your remarks re taxes, the rise of twenty-five per cent you refer to is in the duties on all articles of luxury—that is to say, all articles that are superfluous and unnecessary, which duty comes into force in the 1st of January next. The taxes in the Argentine Republic are very low, in comparison with those of European nations.

As regards the meetings, and movements, and protests that you refer to in the South American newspapers, they are simply held with a political aim in opposition to the Government. For instance, these papers will never tell you that the crops this year are calculated to be worth between fifteen and twenty millions sterling, and that there will not be sufficient labour to gather the same, notwithstanding that the immigration this year will be over three hundred thousand.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
H.C.Q.

London, December 19."

From Mr. Julius J. Smith's book "Monedas Estranjeras," we take the following values of gold coins in Argentine paper-money at to-day's premium of 122.00 o/o:

$ m/n.		$ m/n

Governor Paz has approved the plans presented by the Punta Lara Canal and Mole Company.

The gold market rushed up again this evening at the second ring, the premium flaring up to 123 o/o; towards the close of the ring the market weakened and closed at 122, firm all round. Catalinas fell away to 48 and looked weak at the price. Cedulas ruled steady, both National and Provincial.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's CHLORODYNE.
THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE

Advice to Invalids.—If you wish to obtain quiet refreshing sleep, free from headache, relief from pain and anguish, to calm and assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous media and regulate the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by D. J. Collis Brown, (late Army Medical Staff), to which he gave the name of CHLORODYNE, and which is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, January 5 1880. To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33, Great Russel Street, Bloomsbury, London. Dear Sir,—We embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the widespread reputation this justly esteemed medicine, Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan; but all over the East. As a remedy for general utility, we must question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are so sorry to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances "ad infinitum" of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne in Diarrhœa and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Choleraic Diarrhœa, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's from a firm conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a deliberate Breach of Faith on the part of the Chemist to prescribe and Patient alike. We are, Sir, faithfully yours, Symes and Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain. His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists.

Caution.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr J. Collis Browne, was, undoubtedly, the Inventor of Chlorodine; that the story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, which he regretted to say, had been sworn to,—See "The Times," July 13, 1864.

Sold in bottles at 1s. 1 1/2d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.

Caution.—Beware of Piracy and Imitations.

Sole Manufacturer—J. T. DAVENPORT, 33 Great Russell Street, Bloomsbury, London.

Notice.
We are always willing to take charge of ordinary letters (but not registered letters) addressed to our care, and these, as our readers we'll know, we advertise in our columns; this, however, we are unable to do with the enormous number of newspapers sent to THE STANDARD for new-comers and others: we have now such an immense accumulation of these that the receptacles devoted to their reception in our office are over-crowded. We must, therefore, beg all persons expecting newspapers to call for them at their earliest convenience, in justice both to themselves and THE STANDARD.

ON 'CHANGE.

PRICE OF GOLD TO-DAY.
First Ring............ 221.70
Second Ring.......... 221.50

Tuesday, January 28th.

Who is buying all the gold? This is the query that passes from mouth to mouth and finds no answer. In days not long gone bye, we were taught to look with suspicion on the Germans, who were then the "bete noire", the great culprits, the great speculators for a rise in gold. We have outlived that stage. Then came the turn of the private bankers who, out of pure opposition to a Minister of Finance were supposed to conspire against the interests of the country and of their shareholders by hoarding up gold in their vaults. We have not quite outlived that fallacy yet, but we know that neither the Germans nor the private bankers are at the back of the present rise in gold, and therefore, the query as to who is buying gold is all the more interesting. It matters little who is buying gold; the stern fact stands that gold is firm and will probably advance more.

Half a million gold changed hands for cash at the first ring: the premium opened at 122, rose to 123.40, and closed at 121.70. Operations for the end of the month are still comparatively dull, in spite of the approach of the settlement; about $400,000 were sold at cash rates, closing at 121.50. Operations for the end of February and March ruled at same prices as for end of month, the premium closing at 121 for March and 121.50 for February. Nearly 1½ million dollars changed hands during the first ring. We may add that it is surmised that much gold is being secured for Montevideo.

There is considerable surprise in the market that the Minister of Finance has backed out of his excellent measures decreeing a reduction of the currency. That reduction, ordered by Government decree, should amount to seven millions to-day: yet, not a single dollar of the currency has been withdrawn to our knowledge. Can it be wondered under such circumstances, when absolutely nothing is being done to appreciate paper-money, that the slightest demand for gold, the slightest drop in exchange, has the immediate effect of putting up the gold premium. Let the Minister carry out his plans and late measures, "coute que coute," and we shall immediately see an appreciation of paper-money although some people may wince under tight rates of interest. At the rate affairs are going to-day, there is no hope of any improvement: on the contrary, we are rushing towards a higher gold premium every day, and neither hand nor foot is stirred to prevent the collapse in paper values.

National Bank shares still hang fire, and the publication of the liabilities of Mr. A. Ferrari, ex-director of that bank, has produced anything but a favorable impression. The Bank, we see, is a creditor to the enormous amount of $379,000 m/n paper and $240,000 gold: say a total of no less than $902,000 paper money. Six hundred shares of the bank were sold this morning at 216, 215 and 210 for cash, 216 for the 31st inst., and 188 for end of February. The disparity in prices for cash shows that there is in reality no market for the stock at present. It is to be hoped that no more "cauciones" will be thrown on the Bolsa this month, as a "degringolade" would ensue.

Mr. A. Ferrari, ex-director of the National Bank, has made a transfer of all his properties to his creditors, viz.:—

	$ paper	$ gold
Salvador Gomez ...	187,000	26,500
National Bank......	370,000	240,000
E. Tornquist & Co.	159,500
Th. Bracht & Co...	16,000
Eng. Bank of Rio..		19,500
E. Healy	191,000
Montes & Nocetti..	128,000
C. Malpeli..........	54,000
Berrone & Co.......	100,000
C. Beson & Co......	120,000
J. Gambin	75,000
Muso & Malpeli ...	117,000
	1,578,100	286,000

One of the creditors of Mr. Ferrari applied to the Commercial Court to declare Mr. Ferrari bankrupt, and Dr. Quintana has been appointed "Sindico" to overhaul the accounts. The chief creditor is the National Bank, but Mr. Ferrari's properties are numerous and valuable, and will cover the bulk of the liabilities.

Not a single operation was effected in National Cedulas. Provincial Cedulas ruled somewhat firmer: a fair business was done from series L down to series P, the latter closing at 63 with a firm tendency. The fact that all fresh issues of Cedulas are out of the question for a long time to come ought to improve prices. Series P give splendid interest at present prices.

The situation of the stock market is glomier than ever. Operations are rapidly sinking to nil. A few hundred Banco Constructor Shares were sold for February at 89 and Obligaciones at 6.80 and 7. Four hundred solitary Catalinas Shares were sold at 48½. The whole business done in shares at the first ring did not amount to two hundred thousand dollars—a period of wooden matches commissions. Holders of stocks are to be pitied in the winter of their discontent. Is there no balm in Gilead?

Telegraphic advices received this morning announce that it rained heavily for four hours in Bahia Blanca and that the downpour extended all over the "partido" of Villarino. The camps in the far South were very dry and the rain has come in the nick of time to save the flocks and herds.

The Rio Negro Salt Company are buying up several thousand metres of Decauville railway to lay down on the salt lakes known as La Piedra, Los Ingleses and Del Molino, in the Province of Buenos Aires, between the rivers Negro and Colorado. All the plans and surveys of the steam tramway from San Blas to Patagones are completed, and the works will be commenced immediately.

The national transport Villarino will leave on Thursday for Patagones and South Atlantic ports. She goes down full of provisions for the Sub-prefectures on the South Atlantic. The fine Platense steamer Pomona is posted to leave next week for Bahia Blanca and the Rio Negro. She will take a fair number of passengers.

The Granja Nacional has affected another very important land transaction. It has bought from Mr. Camilino 160 squares of ground in General Rodriguez, near the station and alongside the splendid property recently sold to General Roca, for 200,000 m/n. There are large sheds and buildings on the property, and the Granja intends turning the place into a Dairy Farm. There could be no better business in the country and capitalists ought to follow the example set by the Granja Nacional.

The latest news in circles of so-called "haute finance" is that the Municipal Loan for £2,000,000 is in a fair way of settlement with a leading German firm. After a perusal of the Lord Mayor's speech before the City Council yesterday, we should say that European bankers would confer an enormous benefit on this city by refusing to give the municipality a single dollar. Let the council stick to retrenchment, tear asunder the absurd estimates of the Lord Mayor, and cut down expenditure right and left, from the Lord Mayor's allowance down to the last quarterly pay of the corporation. People must be mad indeed to indulge in the idea of involving this city in a financial burden of no less than 45 million paper dollars, exclusive of a ten-million lottery loan thrown in to blind a gambling and speculating public. This city does not need a Baron Haussman; it needs somebody with some sane ideas about arithmetic.
